

From the Principal's Desk

Welcome New year 2024. It comes with new hope and longing. New year is also a time for parents to look for right schooling of their little ones. To fulfill the expectation of stakeholders, the centers of education have to present innovative and creative learning methods and environment. It is a proved fact that learning is the key for progress for human beings. For the beginner, it is the right schooling which gives shape to her or his thoughts and answer to curious minds. Education is the medium which forms a person dutiful and responsible towards nation, society, and family. "Education cannot be taken away from you" says Elin Nordegren. It is an individual's hard-earned power and strength. New ideas are gained by learning and the same can be put into test for application for making this world more sophisticated and comfortable to live in.

Absence or insufficient education has been a reason for societies and nations for being backward in almost all areas of progress and falling victims of exploitation. Education makes human beings confident and enable them to face the challenges of life. Modern age has looked upon education as the foremost means for personal growth and carrier building. In the midst of abundance of materialistic wealth and riches education is singled out as the matchless treasure. A knowledgeable person is able to make timely and right decisions and draw correct conclusions from the inferences one gathers.

It is rightly said that if you are a person who dreams, your dream will come true one day. And Education is the tool for realizing one's dreams. With its meticulously structured curricular and co-curricular teaching learning activities our school has been a preferred destination for academic excellence. Our vibrant and dedicated sports faculty, music and dance department have their focus on physical and mental health of students. I am sure that every child who enters the door of St. Anselm's will be a person who sees his or her dream come true.
